

Mt: Satopanth Expedition

Satopanth, which mean 'True Path' in local dialect, is a second highest mountain of the Gangotri group of peaks in Garhwal, Uttarakhand. A formidable undertaking, this mountain has an elevation of 7075m. Considered to be a compelling proposition even for the veteran mountain junkies as the trek becomes difficult in its final stages and converts in to peak climbing adventure. The trekking trail for Mt. Satopanth crosses through winding path, knife sharp edges and remote villages of Garhwal. One can expect to get awestruck with the views of Thalay Sagar, Shivling and granite pillars of Bhagirathi III. Camping in Vasuki Tal and few other equally gorgeous places adds to the charm of the Mt. Satopanth Peak Expedition. Here is the detailed itinerary for you from team Adventhrill.
